Analytics-driven enterprise contract collection

Pervasive across every department of an organization, contracts can reflect billions of dollars in corporate value and represent today’s increasingly digital, global and diverse business environment. Yet many corporations lack an organized, centralized and automated method to collect and analyze them. To reduce risk and recognize business goals, organizations need actionable, single-pane visibility into their contract universe—including non-obvious contracts or those ‘hidden’ in email attachments and other non-traditional locations.

THE TECHNOLOGY-ENABLED CONTRACT INTELLIGENCE DIFFERENCE

FTI’s Contract Intelligence team leverages leading-edge analytics and artificial intelligence in place of labor intensive processes to provide efficient contract collection and analysis. Rather than deploying armies of resources to manually identify and comb through documents, FTI experts use proprietary identification and culling technology to collect documents with a minimum amount of time and business disruption, then surface the relevant contract groups so that you can act on them quickly.

Identify relevant contracts with minimum business disruption using analytics designed to limit manual efforts and reduce downstream review scope

Use a technology-enabled process to collect contracts from across a corporation’s data universe—including diverse geographies and storage types (mobile, cloud, proprietary and unstructured data sources)

Simultaneously collect and analyze email related to contracts and find contracts as attachments

Use AI and clustering techniques during assessment to reveal non-obvious contracts or contract families which are not easily identifiable from their text or metadata

Apply proprietary culling and clustering technology to refine the scope of the data collection and automatically group like contracts

Report on contract volumes, locations, types, identification and grouping data

Develop data models compatible with standing or future contract management systems

Identify trends across contract populations for specific business units or the corporation as a whole

BEYOND TECHNOLOGY, WHY WORK WITH FTI?

FTI’s Contract Intelligence service was founded in the world of fast paced litigation and regulatory investigations. While our technologically advanced approach to contract analysis brings speed and efficiency, our experienced teams and tested workflows deliver tailored and cost-effective service.

Enhanced Workflows Ensure Quality While Reducing Costs

Custom solutions and workflows, designed by operational and subject matter experts, are executed by legal review teams that are specifically trained per engagement. Clients receive regular updates on review findings such as legal obligations, cost opportunities, risk exposure and any additional requirements—all driven by advanced analytics.
